. About

I love photography.

There is something magical to me about freezing a moment in time with a split second of light. I love color, composition, and design. I love to capture personality, passion and emotion.

I love the little moments that make each life special and totally unique. The dimple in a child's cheek that only comes out when they laugh. The tears of joy in a bride's eyes as she stands at the alter giving her life to the one person in the world she can't imagine her life without. And the breathtaking and vast array of color in a sunset that leaves you awestruck. I want my photographs to reflect the beauty of life and love.

All products are designed in house and under the complete creative control of Sarah McAllister.

. What's next?

The next step in this process is contacting me to talk about your session and reserve your photo shoot date. Once we finalize on your portrait package and date, we count down the days until I come and shoot unique, creative and original fine art portraits of you and your loved ones.
